

Write a paragraph on how blood is collected in Blood Donation Camp on the basis of the flow chart given below

Points: Camp organized—date announced—donors' list done—donors' medical check up—blood collected in sterilized bags—sealed and preserved—used when necessary

Process of Conducting Blood Donation Camp

Blood Donation is the noble donation which can save many lives in need. For conducting a Blood Donation Camp, the authority has to usually follow the following procedures:

First, a camp will be organized in a locality under supervision of doctors. Then date is being announced and declared to aware the interested donors. After the interested donors submit their names donors' list has been written down. After that donors' medical check up is done by authorized doctors to see if their physical conditions are suitable for donating blood. Next blood is collected from the donors in sterilized bag by nurses and volunteers under the supervision of doctors. Collected blood is then sealed and preserved in proper way. Finally the blood is stored in blood bank for using in necessary.